

Representative Clients

- The world's largest software company, which provides a variety of products and services and operates in a wide range of markets, from video games to servers
- Post-acquisition, the world's largest telecom operator by market capitalization, with more than 20 million access lines in service
- The nation's largest wireless voice and data carrier, with more than 62 million subscribers
- An integrated communications company that provides communications services to customers in rural areas in 25 states, maintaining about 2.1 million access lines
- A market leader in IP-based networking equipment and services, with a division dedicated to providing services to small businesses